The fun thing to do in Las Vegas Las Vegas is basically Disneyland for adults, so it helps to come prepared with a list you have to dos. Here's our backup [destination viator_tour=684 type=3-mod] Maks Ershov/Shutterstock.com Hit Las Vegas Nightclub is much more lively at night than the day, so focus on nightlife when you're planning things to do in Las Vegas. The nightclubs here, each in their own resort, are among the best in the world. DeeJays come from all over the world to spin for vegas party-loving crowds. Dress up your sexy best and be willing to dance and have a night out in some really awesome spaces. Your options include the exclusive Hyde Bellagio, with famous views of the pancut water; luxury gems in Aria; celebrity-magnet 1st type (LOAK) at Mirage; Massive marquee at the Cosmopolitan, and more. Randy Miramontez/Shutterstock.com See a Show When it comes to art offerings, Las Vegas is a shame of wealth. There are dozens of very high-calibre productions here, attracting some of the best talent in the world. Cirque du Soleil performed seven permanent offerings (Mystère, O, Michael Jackson One, Zumanity, Ka, The Beatles Love, and Mindfreak Live) on the Las Vegas Trail, each showing off olympic-rated acrobatics, gorgeous costumes and stunning music. Blue Man Group, for its part, is one of the best things to do in Las Vegas—it will leave you with your jaws dropped, and goosebumps all over. There are also great Absinthe variety offerings at Caesars Palace, magical Le Reve at wynn, Channing Tatum's sexy Magic Mike Live at the Hard Rock Hotel, and Inferno, a stunning new fire in Paris Las Vegas. Coupled with many famous magic shows; Remember, Las Vegas is the turf house for David Copperfield, Siegfried and Roy, Penn and Teller, Criss Angel, and Mat Franco. Ivanovich Oleg/Shutterstock Try Your Fate at the Casino Vegas, almost every hotel has a casino, and almost every adult who travels here plays at least a hand. Gambling is one of the most popular things to do in Las Vegas, thanks in part to the city's loose slots, endless poker and blackjack tables, rotating roulette wheels, 24-hour availability, free drinks while you play, and and designed to ensure you are alert and engaged late at night. The most famous casino here might be Bellagio's, thanks to Ocean 11. But really, you're going to have the same experience almost wherever you play—tension in the seat as a trader who plays fast either whisks away chips or pushes more towards you. Be warned, though: that the house always wins refrain is not always really- but usually it is. So play what you're willing to play, then walk away. William Ducklow/Shutterstock Go for hike With so many indoor surroundings produced in Las Vegas, many tourists forget that just outside is one of the most amazing outdoor surroundings in the world-desert Mojave, offering a rare and beautiful Southwest view. Red Rock Canyon, a national conservation area, is the best place to take a rise locally, and we will go so far as to say that visits there is one of the best things to do in Las Vegas. More than two dozen routes range from super easy to super extreme. Whichever you choose, you will take fresh, wide arid air meets the sky, smattering the Joshua trees, and the twin night glasses just off the city lights. Tupungato/Shutterstock.com Admire Art Seeing world-class art by famous masters may not come to mind first when you inest the things to do in Las Vegas. But if you know where to look, you can have a fine arts experience here almost on a comparable to the big European cities. Started in Bellagio, whose entrance showcased glass works by Dale Chihuly. The hotel's small Fine Art Gallery features a spinning exhibition featuring works by Monet, Warhol, Van Gogh, and Degas. In Picasso, a good eatery in Bellagio, many peruse hangs the original painted by the restaurant's name artist. Other worthwhile art attractions in the city include the Centaur Art Gallery, where you can buy Rembrandts, Renoirs, and Chagalls; Richard MacDonald's art, in which the sculpture dominates evaking the energy and emotions of the Cirque du Soleil; Modern Las Vegas-focused Metropolitan Gallery; and lively Art Factory. Kobby Dagan/Shutterstock.com Meet Animal Lovers will find plenty of fun things to do in Las Vegas. There is a large Coral Reef Aquarium in Mandalay Bay, flamingos in flamingo Wildlife Habitat, and dolphins, lions, and tropical birds in Siegfried and Roy's Secret Garden and Dolphin Habitat. Perhaps the most original animal experience in Las Vegas, however, is outside the Strip at Springs Preserve, where crazy butterfly resident animals, grey foxes, cotton-derived rabbits from the Mojave desert around it, and there are butterfly habitats wonderful. Oleg Anisimov/Shutterstock.com Party Poolside Hanging out by a pool is one of the best things to do in Las Vegas. That's not because other options are boring—they don't. This is because the Las Vegas pool is a more interesting way than anywhere else in the world. Sure, you can find a relaxing pool around the city, but most of them are mostly Big party scenes on music, cocktails, food, cabana, and watching people. Wear your most stylish swim gear and don't forget mojave SPF-sun is nothing to mess with. Shutterstock Gets Spa Treatment Let's face it, Las Vegas isn't the most relaxed destination. It is full of unauthorized stimulation, noise, and lighting. When you find that you need a break from flashy sights and debate music, retreating to one of the city's dozens of resort spas—almost every hotel has one. Las Vegas has completed the art of creating space where people can go to recharge and be silenced. Book indulgent massages, faces, or semenses. Many Vegas spas use organic or locally acquired ingredients, and some will also do body art when you're ready to jump back to the scene by the pool or nightlife. Rene Kohut/Shutterstock Play Golf Tee off at Topgolf Las Vegas, an eight-acre golf-themed playground behind the MGM Grand—it's got 107 climate-controlled hitting bays featuring interactive golf games for all ages, lounge-style seating, and high-definition TV. The four-story venue also offers VIP suites, two swimming pools with cabana, five bars, a concert venue, Callaway Fitting Studio, and a grocery store. For a more traditional golf experience, head to Bali Hai Golf Club on the Strip south of Mandalay Bay. vivooo/Shutterstock.com Take Flight Vegas visitors who want to catch some air can head to the Vegas Indoor Skydiving, where you get ready in a jumpsuit and step into the cylinder space where a 120-mile-per-hour wind pushes you upwards, letting you experience the free-jump sensation of jumping out of the plane. For those who prefer to experience a real plunge over the Strip, Las Vegas Outdoor Adventures will teach you how to jump out of a helicopter. If you prefer to push your own body into the air, head to Xplozone Trampoline Park. [viator_tour destination=684 type=3-mode] More from SmarterTravel: – Original reporting by Avital Andrews.
